Todhill Ground Floor Plan

An Amazing Location in the Heart of Nature

Situated adjacent to the towns of Stevenson and Kilwinning and close to the Ayrshire coast, Todhill sits amongst 105 acres of incredible woodland, wetland and agricultural land. The service offers direct access to a wide range of outdoor activities such as animal husbandry and horticulture, as well as an abundance of community groups, shops and leisure / health facilities in the neighbouring towns.

Sector Leading Support

We are Scotland's largest third sector social care provider supporting more than 2,500 people to achieve the things that matter to them. Through our unique 'Learning Pathways' our SSSC registered and qualified support practitioners receive continuous training tailored around the specific needs and goals of the people they support.

We provide sector leading support for people with complex needs and behaviours that concern; enabling them to live safe and independent lives in their own homes*. A particular benefit in Todhill is the presence of a full time member of our multi-award winning Positive Behaviour Support Team who will provide functional assessments and develop multi-element support strategies that help improve peoples quality of life.

*Due to the construction materials used in the new properties, Todhill is not suitable for people who display high levels of physically destructive behaviour.
